

Mother Earth Day Celebration on Our One Home Journey Celebrations and Update on the Journey so far!

17 April 2025

Dear Friends and Co-Creators on Our One Home Journey,

Incredible but true! On Mother Earth Day 22 April 2025,
Our One Home Journey will be one year old!

We are thrilled to invite you to an enthralling, interactive online celebration and honouring of Our One Home, and an interactive dialogue on our future, at this critical time on Earth. Join us to engage with grassroots visionaries across continents who have inspired and hosted Our One Home Journey in their diverse and transformative Homes for Humanity, and to voice your vital visions and initiatives for living together as a diverse family of life on our home planet.

HERE'S OUR INVITATION TO YOU FOR MOTHER EARTH DAY

CONNECTING HOME TO HOME ACROSS ALL BORDERS

with our Co-Chair, Prof. Jean Houston

Join us live from your home with your families, friends and communities, and zoom right in with us to the home of our beloved Co-Chair Prof. Jean Houston in Ashland, Oregon, who is currently co-hosting Our One Home Journey together with Dr. Peggy Rubin, founder of Sacred Theater. Join our unfolding planetary dialogue and on-the-ground manifestation, as we all come together across all borders in these turbulent times. Everyone is welcome, and every voice, vision and action is essential!

Hear Jean in the two videos below, as she breathes new life into 'Home' and shares her luminous insights on co-creating home on Earth. Join our unfolding planetary dialogue and on-the-ground manifestation, as we all come together across all borders in these turbulent times. Everyone is welcome, and every voice, vision and action counts!

THE GIFTING CULTURE OF THE ONE HOME JOURNEY:

the overwhelming generosity of our hosts in Asia-Oceania

This Mother Earth Day, we extend our deepest gratitude to all our local host organisations and partners who so generously convened and organised the One Home Journey's integral schedule of events and all our local hosts who welcomed us in their homes and communities. This heartwarming universal value of hospitality and sharing is what has enabled Our One Home Journey to go so far and do so much with such a streamlined financial budget. We shall be sharing much more about the generosity of our hosts in our next letter but for now, you could take a peek into our famous traveling gift bag and gifting culture.

Enjoy how our Home for Humanity family in the Nakivale Refugee Settlement (Uganda), Huguette, Ruphin and Roger, refugees from DR Congo, explain Our One Home Journey's Traveling Gift Bag to Shem Henry Luete, refugee from South Sudan in Rhino Refugee Camp (Uganda).

The Gift Bag in Mexico: with Paco Ayala and Piero Barandiaran, Huerto Roma Verde, the award-winning Home for Humanity in Mexico City, who hosted and organised our extraordinary Earth Week in March 2025.

THE JOURNEY SO FAR - AND WHAT LIES AHEAD:

Year 1 of our One Home Journey

Yes dear friends, it is a year since our inauguration at SEKEM, Egypt (winner of UNEP's Champion of the Earth Award 2024) together with World Future Council. Since that initial pilot and preparatory season April to Sept 2025, we have completed two awe-inspiring Seasons: the first in Africa, from September 21 2024, International Peace Day to December 20, 2024, International Day of Human Solidarity; the Second in Asia-Oceania, from New Year 2025 to International Day of Happiness 20 March, 2025.

And we have now embarked on the Third Season in the Americas - (Abya Yala, as many Indigenous People call it), with Season Four in the Arab World and Europe to complete this first year, with a total of about 20 countries.

MOVING FORWARD - EVERY CONTRIBUTION COUNTS

In the weeks ahead we shall be sharing in depth the profound inspirations and tremendous impact of the Season in Asia-Oceania. For now, we share this journey map, and express again our profound appreciation and gratitude to all Homes for Humanity, local and planetary partners, participants and communities that have made our One Home Journey so exceptionally inspiring and impactful thus far.

We look forward to taking the next step of Our One Home Journey together with you on Mother Earth Day, and well beyond! We are grateful to your support. To be able to move forward, every contribution counts!
